

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 16, 1905.

its present besmirched condition whiter than snow.

THE GERMAN government refuses to allow any life insurance company which holds stocks among its assets to do business, and one of the great American life insurance companies sold its stocks and hold only bonds in order to qualify itself to do business in Germany. Recent disclosures will go far to confirm the soundness of the position of the Berlin authorities. It might be an excellent thing, suggests the Philadelphia Record, to prohibit any life insurance company from owning shares of stock. Such a prohibition would go far to divorce the life insurance business from Wall street.

THE FAILURE of the government to prosecute trusts and railroads charged with violating the law has caused a great deal of gossip, and some suspicion that the delay is for fear that some men "higher up" may be involved when the probe is introduced.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, D. C., June 16.

Although the initial and the closing meetings of the Russo-Japanese Peace Commission will be held in Washington, the active deliberations of that body will be conducted probably at Newport, R. I. Inasmuch, however, as the signing of the convention will take place in the capital of the United States, the document will be known in history, actually as well as theoretically, the Treaty of Washington. The commission will hardly get together here before August. The plenipotentiaries are yet to be named. Many details will have to be worked out preliminary to the meeting. It will require a month for the Japanese representatives to reach Washington. There will be a number of social functions, chief among which will be a state dinner at the White House. The Russian Ambassador and the Japanese minister will give elaborate entertainments in honor of their respective plenipotentiaries. Having been well and wine and having laid the groundwork for their negotiations, the commissioners will then proceed as has been provided to "some summer resort in the North," where they will get down to serious business. A squadron of warships will take the commissioners to their new meeting place. They will probably embark at Annapolis, the nearest point to Washington that can accommodate war vessels of a size commensurate with the dignity of such an important body. Before departing from Washington on their return home the plenipotentiaries will again be entertained at the White House and by the Russian Embassy and the Japanese Legation. The opening and closing sessions of the commission will probably be held in the diplomatic room of the State Department. It is presumed that Marquis Ito, as the head of the Japanese peace commission, will preside over the conferences.

Gen. O. H. Ernst, the chairman of the United States delegation on the International Waterways Commission, returned here today from Toronto where the commission was in session Wednesday. All the members of both the Canadian and American delegations were present and Gen. Ernst says that a good start was made in arranging the preliminaries for the work of the commission. It was decided to begin the preparation of data regarding the principal problem before the commission; namely, the regulation of the water level of Lake Erie especially with reference to its effect on the St. Lawrence river, the use of the waters at Niagara, etc. Similar data will also be got together with regard to regulating the use of the water at Saint Ste. Marie. The next meeting of the commission will be held on July 7th, in Ottawa, when the action will be taken by the American Commissioners to pay their respects to the officers of the Canadian government. Later American headquarters will be established at Buffalo and similar opportunities will be given for popular representations from communities on this side of the border.

John Eisenring, the French fishman who was reported as having been taken down with yellow fever at Panama in the last made public yesterday, is dead. This makes five deaths from the disease this month. Gov. Magoon, in reporting the occurrence this morning, announces three additional cases. This makes thirty-four cases on the isthmus since the beginning of the month.

Captain George W. Kirkman, 25th Infantry, who was twice tried by court martial at Fort Niobrara, Nebraska, during the early part of this year and sentenced to dismissal from the army and a total confinement of three years in military prison, must submit to the findings of the court. President Roosevelt today approved the sentences awarded. Capt. Kirkman will serve his confinement at hard labor in the United States penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Capt. Kirkman's infatuation for Mrs. Louis B. Chandler, wife of Lieutenant Chandler, of Kirkman's regiment, was the indirect cause of his court martial. Chandler was instrumental in bringing the charges, based on Kirkman's elopement with Mrs. Chandler to New York, where they separated and Mrs. Chandler was obliged to make her way back to Nebraska as best she could. During Kirkman's confinement at Fort Niobrara during his second trial, Mrs. Chandler committed suicide at a hotel in Omaha.

Major General G. L. Gillespie, assistant chief of the general staff, will be retired at his own request tomorrow. Brigadier General George M. Randall, who sailed yesterday from the Philippines, where he has been commanding the department of Luzon, will be advanced to the rank of Major General. He will succeed Major General John C. Bates in command of the department of the north. General Bates becoming assistant chief of staff to fill the vacancy caused by General Gillespie's retirement.

The situation growing out of the Moroccan affair, has developed until it has assumed a most threatening aspect. News from Paris is to the effect that both the French army and navy are being rapidly prepared for general mobilization. Officers are being summoned back to their regiments and ships, and feverish activity prevails at the War Office and Admiralty. While the questions are still under diplomatic discussion, which is reported to be taking a favorable turn, fear of dangerous complications is not yet over and there is a possibility of war between France and Germany.

News of the Day.

It turns out that Thomas F. Ryan is the sole owner of the Hyde stock in the Equitable Assurance Co., 502 shares, for which he paid $2,500,000.

Virginia News.

The engagement of Miss Janie Gray, of Traveler's Rest, in Stafford county, to Mr. John M. Hagan, of Danville, is announced. The wedding will take place in October.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant, this week, to citizens of this state, of the following patents: James O. Mitchell, of Staunton, for a hand operated gate; Robert Flanagan, of Charlottesville, for a machine for sewing leather.

Robert Greenhow, colored, aged 10 years, who was bitten by a mad dog last February, died at his parent's home, in Stafford county, Wednesday night, of hydrophobia. Several other children were bitten at the same time. They will be sent to Baltimore for examination with a view to sending them to a Pasteur institute.

The question as to the liability of a father to provide for an infant son after the wife had taken the child away was decided by Judge Thomas W. Harrison in Winchester yesterday in an opinion handed down in the case of Oberlin vs. Oberlin. The court held that Oberlin is obliged to support the child, although the infant is with its mother.

Gov. Montague yesterday, at Whaleyville, delivered a campaign address to less than eighty persons, counting women and children. The audience was particularly disappointing to his local managers, as Whaleyville was supposed to be one of his strongholds, and the meeting had been well advertised. The Governor yesterday addressed a large audience at Suffolk.

The "Loyalists" faction of the Junior Order of American Mechanics has been defeated by the "Insurgent" faction. An opinion was handed down by the Court of Appeals yesterday at Wytheville, affirming the decision of the Chancery Court of Richmond recognizing the "Insurgent" branch of the order, chartered by the general assembly, as the one entitled to all the rights and benefits of the order in this State.

At 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Leeds Episcopal Church, near Markham, occurred the marriage of Miss Adelaide Taylor Marshall, of Fauquier county, and Henry Carrington Coles, of Chatham. Rev. P. D. Thompson, rector of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of handsome lace over white silk. She entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. James M. Marshall, and was met at the altar by the groom, accompanied by his brother, Thomas J. Coles, of Eastville.

An attack in force was made on Fort Monroe last night by Admiral Dickins' fleet. Practically the entire fighting strength of his fleet was employed. His battle formation was the same as that at Forts Washington and Hunt, the torpedo-boats next, then the Texas, cruisers, and gunboats. The general action began shortly after 11 o'clock, and at once assumed a close range contest, which contained all that could be desired of the spectacular and picturesque.

The Court of Appeals yesterday reversed the decision of Judge Mullen, of the State Circuit Court, at Petersburg, which appointed a receiver for the Gould electric railway and lighting property on the application of George Fisher. Fisher has been fighting Frank Gould for the control of these properties for some time. The decision today leaves the properties in the hands of the receivers appointed by the United States Court on the counter petition of the Goulds.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

At Louisville, Ky., yesterday, Gen. Stephen D. Lee was unanimously re-elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans. The other officers were also re-elected. The next convention will be held in New Orleans.

The report of the Battle Abbey committee, of which General Evans is chairman, was read. It shows that the committee now has in subscriptions and money, including the Charles Broadway Rouse subscription, $206,000, subject to a claim in suit for $16,000 by John C. Underwood for commissions, and in which an appeal has been taken. The trustees will attempt to raise a further fund of $50,000. The Battle Abbey will be built in Richmond, Va.

The report of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association of the United Daughters of the Confederacy showed that the committee now has in bank for the purpose of erecting the monument $69,000 and that the contract has been signed for unveiling of the work in Richmond on June 3, 1907.

Alarm is felt by the officers of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans over the lack of interest in the organization. Not a committee even sent in a report yesterday at the annual meeting. Few Sons of Confederates were present and the opinion was expressed by the Commander-in-Chief, N. B. Tisdal, that the organization failed to do its duty.

The United Sons of Confederate Veterans yesterday elected the following officers:

Thomas M. Owen, of Montgomery, Ala., commander-in-chief; G. Leslie Spence, of Richmond, Va., commander of Department of Virginia; R. E. Lee Byrum, of Jackson, Tenn., commander of the Department of Tennessee; J. I. Stockett, of Tyler, Texas, commander of the Trans-Mississippi Department; Will T. Sheehan, of Montgomery, Ala., adjutant-general and chief of staff.

A majority of the camps of the organization are in arrears for dues, and the question of their suspension was called up, but no action was taken.

The University.

At the closing exercises of the eighty-first session of University of Virginia, Wednesday night, President Alderman stated that the following amounts had been contributed to the Jefferson Memorial endowment fund since April 13 last: $5,000 by Charles R. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn. This brings the total contributions up to $725,000.

Experienced travellers have found great benefit by taking with them a bottle of Dr. SETH ARNOLD'S BALSAM. It cures illness caused by impure water and sudden changes of climate.

Excitement in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., June 16.—Dominick O'Malley, owner and editor of the New Orleans Daily Item, was arrested this morning on a charge of importing thieves into New Orleans and conspiring to assassinate the newly elected chief of police, E. S. Whitaker. Whitaker's election to the head of the police department came about in a revolution of public sentiment. Crime and vice ran rampant. A club was actually found composed of fifty men who lived off earnings of women imported for immoral purposes. O'Malley served a term in the workhouse at Cleveland, Ohio, from June 30, 1875 to June 22nd, 1877, for petit larceny. Soon afterwards he came to this city and was identified as a private detective and afterwards as a "fixer." March 5, 1881, the grand jury, then in session here, brought in a long indictment showing he was one of the instigators of the assassination of the then chief of police, Hennessey. A riot followed and twelve men were hanged by a mob of citizens. The grand jury in reporting on this riot, said it was impossible to indict any individuals for participating, as the whole city was interested, and let it go at that. O'Malley escaped into the swamps for his life. Then he gradually resumed his old place in the city, and later became the owner of the Daily Item. Last week he came out on the first page of his paper, with a long story sworn to by two alleged reporters, Harry Slocum and Ed. Gerken, who had been employed on the Times-Democrat, and who, O'Malley claimed, were his own detectives. This was afterwards proven a tissue of lies. They told long fictitious stories of a political conspiracy to put Whitaker into office for political purposes, over the head of Journe, former chief of police.

Slocum was afterwards arrested in a brothel and made affidavit of the conspiracy to kill Whitaker, and showed O'Malley had paid him money in the Coombe Club if he would be game and stand by O'Malley to the end. "Slocum's dark record in Kansas City and Chicago had been printed here. New Orleans is today in a furor of excitement. It is now alleged that O'Malley is at the head of a combination of blackmailers and that his newspaper had been run in the interest of this combination. O'Malley is now in a cell.

Later O'Malley was released on bond.

Royal Arcanum Affairs.

New York, June 16.—Resolutions have been adopted by at least nine Royal Arcanum councils within greater New York, appointing committees to investigate the new rates recently promulgated by the Supreme Council of the order. The Supreme Council representatives in this city, when seen today, declined to make any explanation of the increased rates. District Deputy Grand Regent Sheffield said that it was against the rules of the order to talk of Arcanum business for publication. There have been no notices of the increase sent out yet, he said, and when a council is notified a representative from the Supreme Council will appear before the subordinate council and explain the new system satisfaction. A proposition for new order to be known as the "American Arcanum," was put forward at a meeting of Fulton Council, in Brooklyn last night. A resolution was also adopted unanimously to compel the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum to convene a special meeting and rescind the order for higher rates. If this action is not taken, or, an alternative, if the members do not resign, the resolution provides that the fight be taken at once into the State courts. Charges were openly made by lobbying with a fund of $500,000 supplied by one of the three large life insurance companies had brought about the order from the Supreme Council for higher rates. Whenever the name of Grand Regent Wiggins was mentioned, it was hissed and jeered.

China's Claim.

Pekin, China, June 16.—The Chinese government is urging the great powers to support her in an endeavor to secure from the belligerent nations a definite understanding that she is to be compensated for the losses of life and property which have been inflicted on Chinese subjects in Manchuria, during the fighting which has been in progress there. China declares that her Manchurian subjects have been impoverished by the war, and she believes that restitution should be made to them. She takes the ground that Japan, as the victorious nation, should make good for the havoc which has been wrought by the war. China desires this subject to be taken up during the coming peace conference to be held in Washington.

Outside of official circles, here, it is not believed there is much likelihood of Japan agreeing to recompense China for any loss. It is likely that she will take the ground that the complete restoration to China of Manchuria, which is one of the points on which it is understood Japan will hold out, in concluding peace, and the ousting of Russia from control of this region, will more than balance any losses China has suffered on account of the war.

Mimic War at Fortress Monroe.

Fort Monroe, Va., June 16.—Rear Admiral Dickins, commanding the "hostile" fleet, played the game of war to a finish here last night. While it cannot be stated that he won a victory over the supposedly impregnable land fortifications guarding the entrance to Hampton Roads, it now appears certain that when the signal to cease firing was given at Fort Monroe, at midnight, one or two of his vessels had managed to force an entrance to the roadstead without having constructively been put out of action. This fact is admitted by army officers, who today are speaking words of praise for the magnificent strategy displayed by Admiral Dickins.

The entire fleet under Admiral Dickins' command made a demonstration against Fort Monroe shortly after noon today. The fleet did not approach nearer than eight miles, but drew the fire from the mortar batteries at Fort Monroe.

Greasen Acquitted.

Reading, Pa., June 15.—After having been under sentence of death, for over two years, Samuel Greasen, colored, was acquitted in criminal court, today, of the murder of John Edwards, on motion of the District Attorney, who said he was unable to secure evidence against Greasen, since Mrs. Edwards has exonerated him. A great crowd cheered the verdict, and hundreds shook Greasen's hand. It was the end of one of the most remarkable murder cases in the history of the State.

Japan's Reply.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—The text of the reply of the Japanese government to President Roosevelt's identical note of June 8, suggesting the appointment of peace plenipotentiaries, was given out this afternoon by Minister Takahira as follows:

"(June 10, 1905.) The imperial government have given to the suggestions of the President of the United States, embodied in the note handed to the Minister of Foreign Affairs by the United States Minister on the 9th instant, very serious consideration of which, because of its source and its import, it is justly entitled to.

"Desiring, in the interest of the world as well as of Japan, the establishment of peace with Russia on terms and conditions that will fully guarantee its stability, the imperial government will, in response to the suggestion of the President, appoint plenipotentiaries of Japan to meet the plenipotentiaries of Russia at such time and place as may be found to be mutually agreeable and convenient for the purpose of negotiating and concluding terms of peace directly and exclusively between the two belligerent powers."

Rouvier to Retain Position.

Paris, June 16.—The official announcement has been made that Premier Rouvier has decided to retain the position of Minister of Foreign Affairs, made vacant by the resignation of M. Delcasse permanently. The selection of the new Minister of Finance to succeed M. Rouvier it is announced will be made to-night or tomorrow. France has asked Germany to explain what the exact bearing of the proposed movement on the Moroccan question for which Germany recently sent out a note to all the powers would be before signifying what the answer of the French government will be to the proposal. The situation is considered as strained. Letters received by people living in Paris from soldiers serving on the French frontier report that the feeling between the soldiers of the two nations runs high. There are constant conflicts, it is reported between the soldiers. In some cases pickets of the two countries have exchanged shots while on watch.

Train Wrecked.

Decatur, Ala., June 16.—The train bringing three negroes here from Birmingham, to be hanged, today, was wrecked at Boyle, just out of Birmingham. They will not reach here before one o'clock, and the negroes may not be hanged today. There is a large crowd about the jail, but quiet reigns. John Collier, Harvey Smith and Will Jackson are the names of the condemned men. The two first named criminally assaulted Miss Belle Bloodworth January 21, 1905, and Jackson shot and killed Sanitary Officer E. L. Steele at Decatur April 27, 1905.

Asphyxiated by Wine.

Cagliari, Sardinia, June 16.—Four men lost their lives here today, while attempting to descend into a huge wine reservoir, holding 50,000 gallons of wine. An employee who was first sent into the reservoir, was asphyxiated by the fumes rising from the wine. Two others who attempted to rescue their comrade, were likewise overcome. The proprietor of the place, then attempted to make the descent. He fell into the reservoir and was drowned.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 16.—There was practically no feature to the trading during the first hour. Nearly all the room traders devoted their attention to Japanese bonds, especially the 4s, which advanced from 92½ to 93.

Terrible Mistake.

Gustavus Laconia, who lives about one mile east of Luray, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by Scott Rodgers, a neighbor, yesterday morning about 3 o'clock. Laconia, who is about 24 years of age, was awakened by one of his father's horses, which had gotten down in the barn. He started to the Rodgers home to get the latter to assist him with the horse. Rodgers, who had been troubled of late by thieves, was also awake, though in the semi-darkness could not recognize Laconia as he approached his house, and thinking him a burglar, called on him to wait. Laconia, who is somewhat deaf, failed to hear Rodgers, and advanced to the house, whereupon Rodgers seized his gun and fired in the direction of Laconia, almost the entire load taking effect in the latter's chest and face. Rodgers is a son of W. H. Rodgers, superintendent of the poor of Page county, and is about 25 years of age.
